

Aaron Goforth, Wright Johnson

Mr. Aaron Goforth is an industry leader in preparing economic analyses and business plans for regional centers working with the EB-5 program. Before joining Wright Johnson, Aaron worked for Merck & Co., Inc., in various capacities, including Manager of Strategic Planning and Customer Marketing. He left Merck as one of their leaders in US Commercial Operations, and was responsible for Merck's US primary care portfolio. Aaron has degrees in both business and economics but also practical EB-5 experience, is proficient in both RIMS II and IMPLAN, and is an expert in developing and implementing project strategy and analysis. As the lead of the input/output analysis division of Wright Johnson, Aaron has supervised the successful completion of more than fifty EB-5-related economic analyses.
